Love is patient. Love is kind. It does not envy. It does not boast. It is not proud. It is not rude. It is not self-seeking. It is not easily angered. It keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Obituary

Mae was born on January 15, 1927 to William Steven Atlas Sr. and Betsy Mae Webb-Atlas in Shreveport, Mississippi. She was the youngest of 12 children. Her early years were spent in Shreveport, where she accepted Christ at an early age. In the early 1950s, she relocated to California and raised her family.

Mae worked for St. Bernardine Medical Center for over 20 years. She was an honored church mother who enjoyed spending time with her family and friends. She could always be counted on to give love, understanding, and sound advice. Her love and laughter has been greatly missed.

She is preceded in death by David Williams, her faithful companion until death. She is also preceded in death by her eight brothers Tommy, Robert, Edward, Albert, William Jr. Jessie, Preston, and Chester as well as her three sisters Alberta, Inez, Evelyn, and Carol. She leaves four sons, Jessie Lee Smith, Freddie Lee Smith, Irvin Clifford Robinson, and Roger Edmond to carry on her legacy of love. She will also be missed by her grandchildren, great-grandchildren and host nieces, nephews, relatives, and friends.

Her children arise and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her: "Many women do noble things, but you surpass them all."

Proverbs 31: 28-29
